Course operations offered at the outdoor facilities of the university sports facility Nachtigallenweg 86

- The participants will be led by the instructor to the sports area via the access point indicated in the course description, in compliance with the distance rules.
- The instructors keep attendance lists so that possible chains of infection can be traced. The lists are made available to the instructors by the university sports department on a daily basis.
- The maximum group size of 10 persons is prescribed for outdoor contact sports training. Larger groups must always train completely separately.

Before the training session

- Each participant brings their own towels and drinks to the sports unit. If possible, these are marked by name and are always placed at a sufficient distance from the other participants’ personal belongings. The same applies to own mats or sports equipment.
- The instructors will assign individual training and break areas to the participants before the start of the unit. These are marked in accordance with the applicable regulations for keeping distance (e.g. with hats, circles, poles, etc.).
- Participants are made aware of the applicable behavioral measures/hygiene regulations before each sports unit.
- If participants bring their own materials and equipment, they are responsible for their own disinfection. It is not permitted to pass on the equipment to other participants.

During the training session

- The instructors ensure that the minimum distance of 1.5 metres is maintained throughout the entire sports unit.
- For units with a high level of physical activity, it is advisable to maintain a generous minimum distance. The mouth and nose protector can be removed during the sports unit. However, in the event of an injury, the Mouth and Nose Protector must always be within reach of all participants.
- All physical contact must be avoided during the sports unit. This also includes sportsrelated assistance, corrections and partner exercises.
- Speaking loudly, shouting and roaring must be avoided. Whistles will not be used.
- If participants leave during the sports unit, this must be done in accordance with the distance rule and by notifying the trainer. This also applies to visits to the toilet facilities.
After the training session

- All participants will leave the sports facility immediately after the end of the sports unit in accordance with the distance rules.
